

Entrepreneurship and intersubjective coordination

Abstract:

We pose the problem of decentralized economic coordination using the vocabulary of beliefs, preferences, and meanings. We assess the methodological implications of this line of inquiry, and offer the bases for a theory of entrepreneurship that takes into account the concrete cognitive contexts of agents.